Art Unit: 1773

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

There is no enablement for recording magnetic information on or reading from the volume hologram layer. The volume hologram layer does not contain magnetic material to enable this feature. The magnetic layer to which magnetic information is recorded or read is remote from the volume hologram layer (See figures laer 12) and the information is recorded or read THROUGH the volume hologram layer.[0029] of PG PUB.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over applicants admissions in the background of the invention and Ishimoto et al US 2002/0191234 .

Applicants admit that volume holograms laid in a magnetic layer were old in the art at the time of the invention and that it was recognized that there were wear resistance problems when it came repeatedly in sliding contact with a magnetic head.

Ishimoto et al teach that volume holograms may be made from the ingredients now claimed (See [0029]).

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to optimize the volume hologram to maximize durability during sliding contact with a magnetic head when covering a magnetic recording layer to which magnetic information was to be recorded and read through the volume hologram.

The examiner notes that the comparative example of the present specification uses the same HRF-800X001. However the claims are not commensurate with the examples showing improved results over the comparative example.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Hayashi et al is cited for teaching the UV curing of a cationically polymerizable resin to enhance the properties of thicker protective films.
